UPCOMING EDUCATIONAL SERIES:

Webinar: Attract or Repel? How does your website treat visitors?

Your website is like the welcome mat to your business. Many people have their first interaction with you on your website. What kind of welcome mat are you setting out? Is it full of intentionality as you introduce your visitor to your brand and invite them into your space? Or are you just throwing down the same welcome mat you have used for the last three, maybe even eight years? It is probably dirty and dated as shoe after shoe has stepped on it.

Your website is the same. You have the opportunity to truly guide and engage your visitors on a journey of getting to know your business. You can lead them from visitor to loyal customer to fan through the effective use of your online presence. Let me help you examine your online welcome mat and walk away with some practical tips for creating a website that attracts, not repels visitors.

❖ #LoyaltoLocal

Chamber thanks community participation in #LoyaltoLocal Holiday Passport Program

We were so overwhelmed with excitement about our most recent program! This year in an effort to support our local small business community the entire holiday season, we created a #LoyaltoLocal Holiday Passport Program. Over 70 businesses participated and 750+ passports were returned for our grand prize drawing. We were able to track $187,500 spent locally through this program alone!

The feedback and response from our community has been such a positive and bright light in what this past year has thrown everyone's way.

Our passports had spaces to stamp in various dollar amounts from $2 - $25 totaling in $250 when completed. Participants simply took their passport to a participating business and had it stamped according to the amount of spaces in products/services they purchased. They could complete as many passports as they like to increase their chances of winning!

Congratulations to our winners: Kelly Covey and James & Sarah Dewald
